Illinois Sizzles In Heat Wave; Deaths Reported

Sparta Man Dies After Suffering A Heat Stroke

By United Press
Illinois sizzled under a midsummer heat wave today after enjoying a breath of relief from Canada. A cool air mass pushed the mercury down into the 70s during Wednesday night, but forecasters said it would climb back into the 90s again today.

Highs of 85 to 95 in northern Illinois and 95 to 100 in the south were predicted for today, with some thundershowers.

Even at that, it was cool compared with the scorching Wednesday, which saw the temperature soar as high as 103. That mark was reached at Rockford, the hottest weather bureau reporting station in the Midwest Wednesday.

It was 100.4 in Chicago, highest of the year and an all-time high for July 27. It was the 15th July day of 90 degree temperatures or better, equalling another mark.

Moline recorded 100 degrees. It was 98 at Peoria and Quincy, and 97 at Springfield and Vandalia. Lowest reading Wednesday night was a mild 73 at Vandalia.

As thousands flocked to beaches, the Chicago area registered its third Lake Michigan drowning in two days. The victim was 6-year-old Jerry Dillon.

Heat was blamed for the deaths of Bruno Myiak, 39, Chicago Heights, and William Orndorff, 58, Chicago. Myiak collapsed at work on a new home in Park Forest and Orndorff collapsed in a restaurant.

Sparta Man Dies

George Hicks, 57, fell to the ground in front of his Rockford home in 103-degree weather Wednesday and officials attributed his death to heat.

Coroner Collins Y. Sundberg said Hicks, a railroad worker, had a temperature of 102 degrees when admitted to a hospital.

Leon Schambly, 64, Sparta, died early today after suffering a heart stroke Wednesday while working with a railroad section crew. He was taken to a Sparta hospital where he died.

The heat wave is straining Herin's water supply. Mayor Dave Miller said the city may have to take steps to curtail use of water for lawn-sprinkling, car washing and similar purposes.

Miller said the city's water system is now working at its 1 1/2 million gallon-per-day capacity. But he said it still cannot satisfy the increased demands of home and industrial users brought on by the heat.

Heat put two Chicago area bridges out of commission. One on U. S. 66 in the suburb of McCook was closed when pavement buckled and cracked. A bridge at Fullerton Avenue in Chicago was closed when a span apparently expanded due to heat.

Conferees Agree To $1 An Hour Minimum Wage

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House-Senate conference committee has agreed on a compromise bill to raise the federal minimum wage law from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

Agreement was reached Wednesday when the conferees threw out a Senate provision to extend the increase to workers in Puerto Rico and accepted a House provision to make the increase effective next March 1.

These were the major differences in measures passed previously by the House and Senate. Both had pegged the increase to $1 an hour. But the Senate had voted to make the effective date next Jan. 1.

President Eisenhower had recommended increasing the minimum wage to 90 cents an hour and had placed the measure on his "must" legislative list. The $1 figure was a compromise between the President's proposal and $1.25 sought by organized labor.

Quick passage of the compromise seems assured.

President Must Decide on Future of Talbott without Awaiting Committee Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower must decide the future of Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott without a verdict from Senate investigators, authoritative sources said today.

At least two members of the Senate investigating subcommittee urged a speedy report on the group's inquiry into the $60,000-a-year business partnership which Talbott kept while in the Pentagon. Talbott announced Wednesday at the end of the investigation that he is pulling out of the firm.

But a high source said the staff could not draft a report and get agreement of the subcommittee members before this session of Congress ends and the seven senators scatter.

This probably would delay the official report until January.

The delay would leave Mr. Eisenhower to decide for himself whether Talbott violated government ethics. He would have available the testimony in the case, but not the subcommittee's opinion.

Will Make Personal Study

The Chief Executive told his news conference Wednesday that he will make an intensive personal study of the Talbott case. He refrained from passing any judgment then on Talbott.

Mr. Eisenhower said there was no suggestion of fraud or illegality in the case. But he said it is not enough for a man in public office merely to be innocent of illegal actions—there are also questions of ethics, and on such matters, he said, a public official must be impeccable.

He said Talbott had performed almost brilliantly as Air Force secretary and had been his personal friend for some years.

But Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) told newsmen he thought the subcommittee should study the evidence over the weekend and begin work on a report next week.

"It should be a comparatively simple report, because the facts are relatively limited," Mundt said. "I hope it won't be approached in a partisan spirit."

And Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said, "I think there should be an early report by the subcommittee. We have the problem of last-minute legislation which will necessarily slow down issuance of a report. Nevertheless, I hope a report will be made without delay."

Flood of Resignation Rumors

Rumors that Talbott would—or would not—resign from his post flooded Washington in the wake of his withdrawal from Paul B. Muligan & Co., management engineers.

Talbott told a United Press reporter Friday that he did not intend to resign as secretary. When an aide intervened with "no comment," Talbott amended his answer to "no comment." Later, when pressed by other newsmen, he denied making the statement.

Giant Automobile Firm Expects Best Year in History

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corporation shattered every sales, production and profit record in existence during the first six months of 1955 and expects the full year to be the best in history.

The world's largest manufacturing concern announced Wednesday that sales soared to $6,512,672,139 for the six-month period which will mean a gross income of more than $1 billion dollars for the year if it maintains the same startling pace.

CIPS Reports Outstanding Safety Record by Workers in Division

An outstanding safety record has been achieved by employees in the Southern Division of the Central Illinois Public Service company.

As of March 30, 1955 they had worked one-half million manhours without a lost time accident. The last accident involving lost time occurred March 22, 1954. This means that an average of 240 employees worked more than a year without a serious injury.

In the company's three divisions, this is the first instance where an entire division has worked a half million manhours without a disabling injury.

This accomplishment is not a mere coincidence. It is the result of safe working methods and an earnest desire of each individual to attain the goals of the company's safety program.

Southern Division comprises seven groups and two sub-groups with offices located at Benton, Christopher, West Frankfort, Johnston City, Marion, Herrin, Carbondale, Anna, Harrisburg, and the Division office at Marion. This high safety honor was attained by safety-minded linemen, line clearance and spray crews, truck drivers, substation electricians, metermen, patrolmen, voltage surveyors, garage mechanics, storemen, men, communication and teleprinter men, load dispatchers, janitors, engineers, office employees and supervisory personnel at the above mentioned locations.

In recognition of this fine record, the company presented a safety award to the Southern Division employees at a series of meetings held recently.

Anticipating no lost time accidents at the end of this month, an average of 243 employees in Southern Division will have worked an additional 165,000 manhours since reaching the one-half million mark; or a total of 665,000 manhours since the last lost time accident. Division Manager W. A. Luecke is hopeful of attaining a record of one million manhours. Such an achievement is recognized by an award from Edison Electric Institute.

William Hopkins, superintendent of the Harrisburg group, officiated at the Harrisburg group's part in compiling this record.

He said that the last time there was any lost-time accident in the Harrisburg group was 1946.

He stated that the CIPS is ever trying to keep its employees safety minded. Line crews, he said, start each work week with a 30-minute safety meeting. Others held a safety meeting once a month.

Security Check Of Gov't Workers Is Completed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission testified today that the federal loyalty-security check-up on present government employees is finished.

He told a Senate civil service subcommittee "the job is done" as far as it involved 2,300,000 incumbents in federal posts. The security program will be on new applicants from here on, he said, except where new information may necessitate "reappraisal" of a current employee's record.

Young made the statements at a hearing which produced these other developments:

The Modern Dowry

Editorial by Bruce Blossat.
Men, it looks as if we're going to have to modify our approach to marriage. Some of the hard economic realities of the 1950's seem to be catching up with us.

Sylvia Porter, an astute economic reporter, turned an embarrassing spotlight on these facts in a recent column. If this sort of thing keeps on, there'll be no way out but to get a new script. Some of us, of course, have always rushed into marriage headlong. But most tend to delay the big step, sometimes for quite a while. And one of our favorite lines, heretofore considered unanswerable, is: "Darling, I can't afford to marry you yet."

Well, now, according to Miss Porter the present day income tax laws are so framed that the girl is on very sound ground if she replies: "You can't afford NOT to marry me."

What she means, naturally, is that tax savings accruing to the married state are so substantial that a fellow who insists on staying single must be judged as having no head at all for business. Miss Porter doesn't want to run down the romantic side of marriage in the mid-20th century. But she feels compelled to declare that marriage today is also a "magnificent financial deal."

In the first place, the little woman automatically provides you with an extra $600 personal exemption. More important, when you're married you can file a joint return under which your income is divided between the two marriage partners and taxed separately at lower rates.

If your total joint income is $4000, your yearly saving is $172. If $6000, it's $252. For those who get past $10,000 a year, a wife begins to look almost like a pass from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Savings in that category come to $600 annually. The chosen few who make $30,000 or more find a wife worth $6874 in tax savings.

Miss Porter doesn't rest her case with figures like these. She shows what these savings would amount to if capitalized at 6 per cent over a married life of 20 or 30 years. And she details a lot of secondary economies, not the least of which is the fact that you get yourself a free nurse in case of illness.

In the old days, a bride-to-be was expected to offer her man something in the way of a dowry. But dowries went out of fashion. Today, however, a girl can make a much more convincing case than her grandmother could with talk of dowries. All she needs to do, suggests Miss Porter, is to have a copy of the tax tables handy when the man is wavering. If he has any sense, that should do it.

The fellow who still wants to put marriage off in the face of the compelling economic advantages will not only have to be a bit foolhardy. He'll have to be a pretty imaginative talker to sound even half way convincing.

What do you do with towels that were a bad buy because they're wearing at the selvage? If they're too lousy for dishcloths, consider donating them to a new mother for emergency bedpans or mopups. She can use them.

We Get a Better View of Things From This Point

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: West Germany's Lonely "Old Man." On Private "Summit," Pondered His People's Future As Big 4 Met In Geneva; Adenauer Twice Rebuffed His Advisers' Suggestion He Deal Privately With Russians; Latent Forces Of Nazism His Major Problem.

MURREN, Switzerland.—An old man who has seen two wars and much unhappiness sat on a mountaintop as the Big Four scurried about Geneva "at the summit."

And, while the Big Four were being ogled by hundreds of tourists and guarded by 284 Secret Service men, 150 Russian security guards, Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of West Germany, sat on a summit so aloof and alone that only the tenuous strands of a cable hauling a cable car straight up Switzerland's highest mountain linked him with the diplomatic hustle and bustle down below.

One narrow street threaded the mountain shoulder where Adenauer sat on his summit. No one could possibly reach Adenauer's summit unless hauled by cable car and, after they got there, they had no place to go. Only two wheeled milk cars so perambulated along Murren's one and only street.

PRECARIOUS PEACE
In solitude the old man of Germany sat watching the glaciers melt into cataracts and come tumbling down the Jungfrau like Hitler's empire. He sat admiring the patches of potatoes which clung to the side of the mountain as precariously as the peace of Europe and he gazed up at the clouds crowning the peak of Jungfrau like his own hopes for the future of the German people.

The old man had a lot to think about during the Big Four conference. Twice his German observers at Geneva sent him by teletype recommendations that Germany accept Russian overtures to do some dealing on the side. Twice the old man sent back a brusque, blunt, almost brutal "no." He had made his bed with the West and there he was prepared to sleep. He did not propose to conduct any flirtations on the side.

The newspapers that came to his lonely mountaintop also gave him plenty to think about. France was rapidly disintegrating. Morocco was seething, a hotel in Saigon was gutted and Indo-China was going Communist as swiftly as the Swiss skiers shoot down his mountaintop in the wintertime. The nation which twice in 30 years had triumphed over Germany was being forced to retreat to its own narrow confines; its far-flung French empire soon would be no more.

Unlike some Germans, it did not make the old man happy. Once he had hoped fervently that France and Germany could serve under the same flag of the European Defense Community, with their troops wearing the same uniform. He was sorry France had turned this down, sorry that France had not seen the great opportunity of making these onetime bitter enemies permanent friends.

CHEERING ECONOMIC REPORTS

The old man also received reports which should have made him glad and, on the whole, did. His country was thriving. German goods were flooding western Europe and cutting into British markets in the Near East and even into American markets in Latin America. At Hamburg, German shipbuilders are constructing 27,000-ton vessels in six months so much cheaper than the British that the British steamship lines are deserting the Clyde for Germany.

It was one of the penalties or advantages—he didn't know which—of losing a war. Your shipyards and your factories were so completely knocked out that you installed the most modern equipment in the world—so modern that you could outproduce the older machinery of your competitors.

Along with the favorable economic reports, the old man had two disturbing reports. One from the health ministry showed that German health is suffering from overtime work—German people were working night and day in their eagerness to stage a comeback to their once great strength, but it was hurting their health.

The other report came from Dr. Grewe, chief of the political bureau in the foreign office. Writing from Geneva, Dr. Grewe warned that the Big Four's progress toward peace meant less foreign aid, less foreign arms from the United States, and might lead to an economic slump in Europe if the United States curtailed its steady flow of dollars to Europe. It might do this the way the sudden stoppage of American loans to Europe did it in 1929 when financial panic swept Europe—a panic which eventually crossed the Atlantic and triggered the spark that set off the inflation which brought on the great depression of 1932.

It was not happy to think about, but Dr. Grewe warned the old man that this might happen again.

SO LITTLE TIME

The other reports from Geneva should have made the old man reasonably happy. Germany had been the chief topic of conversation among the Big Four. They all were anxious to please Germany and bartered for her support. But the old man wasn't happy. He wanted unification for his country. Even more, he wanted to insure peace for his country while there is yet time.

When you're 79 years old you can't wait too long and the old man knew there were forces back home in Germany which he could control now, but not after he departed. Would the latent forces of Nazism, after he departed, become like the rivulets he watched coursing down the breast of Jungfrau? Rivulets which meant nothing at their start but which, gathering momentum, rushed into the mighty cataract grinding, cutting and carving an ugly scar in the side of the mountain.

Would those latent political forces in Germany once again leap to the surface? No! Not as long as the old man lived. But he is 79 years old and Adenauer couldn't help but wonder, as he sat watching the clouds make a halo around the snowcapped peak, what would happen after he had gone.

Moral: Never Ask a Policeman for Directions

WINDSOR, Conn. (UP)—Motorist Lee E. Seabolt of Evans, Ga., made one mistake on his trip from Texas to New Hampshire. He stopped to ask a policeman here for directions.

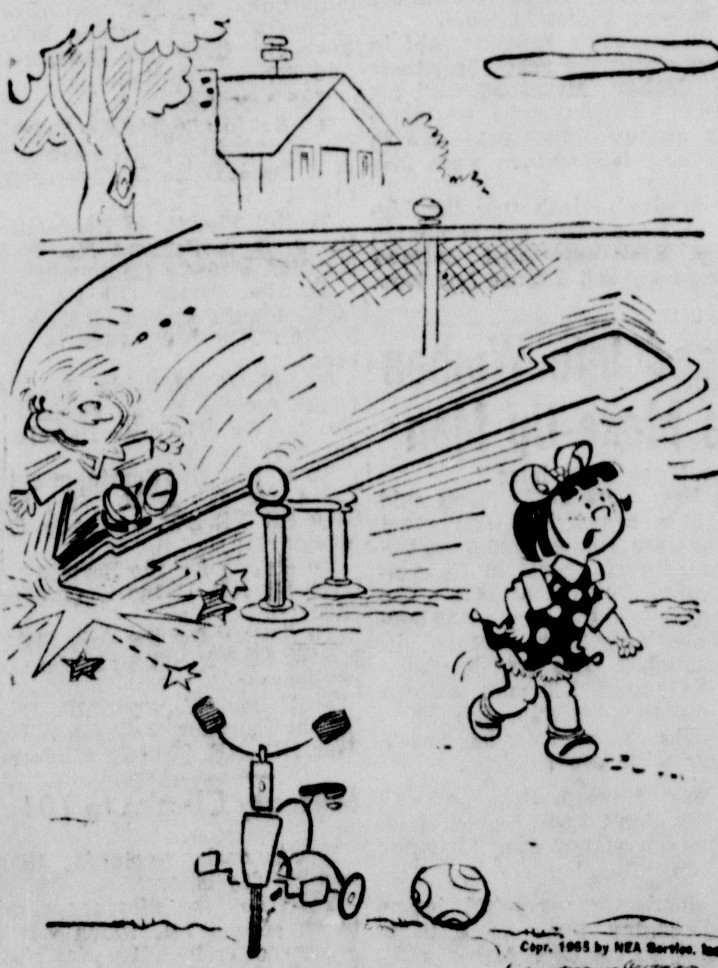

After traveling 2,000 miles with a money order receipt as a substitute for automobile registration plates, Seabolt was asked to produce his car registration. He showed the officer the receipt indicating he had applied for but had not received his car plates.

Seabolt, after being booked for driving an unregistered motor vehicle was allowed to continue his trip — by bus.

Security Check Program Upheld

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals ruled 2-1 today that President Eisenhower's security check program for government employees is "rational and reasonable."

But the dissenting member of the court, Chief Judge Henry W. Edgerton, asserted in his minority opinion that the President's 1953 executive order which established the present government security program was "unauthorized and invalid."

The court majority upheld the dismissal of Kendrick M. Cole, former food and drug inspector for the Health, Education and Welfare Department. Cole was fired on charges that he had associated with individuals "reliably reported" to be Communists and that he had attended meetings of organizations labeled subversive by the attorney general.

36 Girls Drowned By Huge Wave While Swimming Near Tokyo

TOKYO (UP)—Thirty-six teenage girls were reported drowned today when a monstrous wave rolled in from the sea and engulfed their swimming class on a beach at Tsu, 300 miles south of Tokyo.

The wave, rolling in without warning from a calm sea, swept over 50 students, most of them girls. Another 300 students from Tsu's Kyohoku high school were on the beach, but most of them escaped.

Cary Grant Names Fascinating Women; Guess Who Tops List

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Movie idol Cary Grant has stuck his famous cleft chin out and listed the 12 most fascinating women he ever met.

The first three on his list—the three women he married—

"They'd have to be fascinating to me," said the handsome actor. "I married them, didn't I?" Grant, who does some fascinating of his own at the box office has been married since 1949 to actress Betsy Drake. His first wife was the English actress, Virginia Cherrill, who starred in Charles Chaplin's "City Lights." His second and was Barbara Hutton, the dime store heiress. The first two marriages ended in divorce.

Grant volunteered his list during a recent New York visit to promote his new picture, "To Catch a Thief." It co-stars Grace Kelly, whom Grant puts next on his list of "most fascinating."

"That girl's A-one," said Grant. "Such talent! I fall in love with talent."

The others on his list: Ingrid Bergman, Ethel Barrymore, Janet Gaynor, producer Irene Selznick, Fleur Cowles, wife of the newspaper and magazine publisher; Sherman Douglas, blonde daughter of the former U. S. Ambassador to Britain; comedienne Beatrice Lillie, and the late Countess Dorothy Di Frasso, well-known Hollywood hostess. Grant says that serenity is the greatest quality a woman can have.

"Money, elegant clothes, beauty—these don't matter at all if a woman's fascination for a man is to last," he explained.

Grant said a woman also should be a "candid" ("A most refreshing quality in this age of hypocrisy") and clean ("A woman should smell good!").

And the most unappealing feminine trait? "The woman who talks baby talk," said Grant firmly. "She's gotta go!"

Actress Dolores Del Rio Denies Red Leanings

HOLLYWOOD — Mexican actress Dolores Del Rio, who has returned to Hollywood after a 12-year absence, blamed some parts of the Mexican press today for reports she had Communist leanings.

The 47-year-old beauty, once one of Hollywood's top stars, arrived by airliner from Mexico City for a week's visit Wednesday and promptly declared she is not now and never has been a Communist.

"I am a Catholic," she said, "and I regard this country as I do my own. I am terribly excited and happy to be back."

She said reports she had Communist leanings arose nine months ago when she applied to the U. S. Department of State for a visa to come to Hollywood to appear in a film. Because the visa was slow in being granted, she said some parts of the Mexican press "jumped to conclusions."

Miss Del Rio said the visa never was denied and the U. S. embassy in Mexico City told her three months ago she could pick up her visa whenever she desired.

She came here to act as maid of honor at Wednesday night's wedding of her friend, wealthy hotelman, Hernando Courtwright, and Marcelle Evay Cuillery, prominent Mexico City socialite.

Miss Del Rio, still regarded as Mexico City's top star, said she had made numerous pictures in her native country, Spain and Argentina in the past 12 years.

Six Damage Suits Total Nearly Half Million Dollars

SPRINGFIELD — Six damage suits for a total of close to a half million dollars for injuries suffered in the collapse of a military reviewing stand today were on file in federal court.

Three more suits have been filed this week by persons allegedly injured in the collapse of a reviewing stand at the Granite City Engineer Depot military reservation last July 31.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Flanagan, Aurora, Colo., asked $15,000 for Mrs. Flanagan and $5,000 for her husband; Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Love, Granite City, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heaton, Nameoki Township, asked $75,000 per couple, $50,000 for the wife and $25,000 for the husband in each case.

Three other suits by couples had been filed recently.

The woman asked damages of personal injury, and their husbands sued for loss of service, "consortium rights" and companionship.

The suits charge the government was careless and negligent in construction of the reviewing stand, built for a "Salute to the Depot" program.

Searing Heat Continues in Midwest Areas

By United Press

Record breaking heat struck the nation again today from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic seaboard, while a devastating flood forced 1,500 persons from their homes at Albuquerque, N. M.

Some relief was expected from the worst heat of the year after Wednesday's 100-degree readings through a wide area of the Midwest. Cooler air spread southward over the Great Lakes and North Atlantic States. But in the south eastern part of the nation the mercury stayed high.

Two flash floods roared out of the rain-drenched Sandia Mountains into the northern half of Albuquerque, causing 1,500 persons to flee their homes. Evacuees hurried to the University of New Mexico dormitories for shelter, and Gov. John F. Sins declared a state of emergency.

An 18-inch crest of water flowed through half the city, and damage from mud and water was estimated at one million dollars.

A severe thunderstorm sent more than three inches of rain in four hours at Atlanta, Ga. The violent storm knocked the city's trolley system out of service, and police and firemen reported that 12 homes were hit by lightning.

Heavy rain also fell at Buffalo, N. Y., Charleston, S. C., and New Orleans, Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla., and Denver.

The searing heat across the nation's mid-section sent the mercury to a record 100.4 at Chicago, breaking all records for July 27. It was the 15th day this month of 90-degree or higher temperatures.

The mercury soared to 104 at Lincoln, Neb., 103 at Rockford, Ill., and 102 at Des Moines, Iowa.

Ex-Judge Wins Fight for Passport

PRINCETON, N. J. — Former Judge William Clark had his long-fought-for passport in his possession today and said he intends to leave for Germany as soon as he can.

The former chief judge of the American Appeals Court in West Germany finally won the passport to Germany last Saturday. He had brought suit to force the State Department to issue it.

He said his reception of the passport in the mail Wednesday ended a two-year fight against "oppressive bureaucracy."

He was ousted from his post in Germany in June, 1954, after a feud with then High Commissioner James B. Conant.

President Tired, But No Vacation Until Next Month

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, showing definite fatigue from his punishing summer schedule, won't have a real chance for a rest until he goes to Colorado next month, members of his staff said today.

They hope he will be able then to put aside all but the most urgent work and concentrate for a week or two on golf and fishing. He will arrive in Colorado sometime after the close of Congress.

Mr. Eisenhower was on the go during most of June and July and returned from the Geneva conference at the start of the week showing, if not feeling, the effects of his busy schedule.

The President looked tired at his news conference Wednesday. His complexion was ruddy, but there were new fatigue lines around his eyes.

The temperature inside the non-air conditioned news conference room approached 90 and the humidity was almost smothering. Many of the 184 reporters took off their coats. But Mr. Eisenhower, in a gray summerweight business suit, kept his coat on.

Mr. Eisenhower's demeanor ranged from grinning amiability when he said he expected to be a grandfather for the fourth time by Christmas to outright irritability over questions involving certain phases of the Dixon-Yates controversy.

He did not perspire noticeably during the news conference. But his face got redder and somewhat mottled as the heat built up in the conference chamber.

His voice generally was lower and his words slower than at most conferences. But he was not without an occasional light quip.

When he walked into the room, he looked around and said he saw that the reporters had not yet gotten their air conditioning machines. He smiled at the groans which greeted this understatement and proceeded with the news conference, which lasted about 30 minutes.

4-H Club News

The Garden Heights 4-H club met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Joseph Smith for the achievement program.

Following the business session a piano solo was played by Becky Chrisman and a stunt performed by Sue Taylor and Peggy Humphrey.

Sally Smith gave a demonstration on freezing foods. All ten members were present and modeled the dresses which they made in their clothing project.

Guests present were Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. Charles Agin, Mrs. Freeman Humphrey, Mrs. George Chrisman and Misses Mary Ann Pickford, Libby and Donna Sowels, Janice Taylor, Audrey Smith and Joseph Smith.

Refreshments of pineapple punch and brownies were served. The brownies were made by five of the girls who have taken an extra project called the ABC's of Foods.

Last week while on a tour of the local stores the club enjoyed its visit to Newkirk's millinery and listening to Mrs. Capitola Melton, the manager, who graciously consented to give a talk on the new fall style trends and hat trimmings.

Catholic Hierarchy Charges Peron Gov't With Persecution

RIO DE JANEIRO — The Argentine Roman Catholic hierarchy charged the Peron government Wednesday with systematic and relentless persecution of the church.

In a white paper published here, the Argentine Catholic hierarchy demanded repeal of such measures as the legalization of divorce and prostitution, abolition of some religious holidays, curbing of outdoor religious events and suppression of religious instruction in government schools.

Such measures, the white paper said, violate natural and specific laws "designed to protect rights, liberties and moral values."

New Illinois 'Use' Tax Will Go Into Effect August 1

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — If upheld by the courts, the new Illinois "use" tax, taking effect Aug. 1, could replace the state's present largest source of general revenue. However, it has been discovered since adjournment of the Legislature there is a "clerical" error in the new use tax law.
The error consists of failure to name the Retailer's Occupational Tax Act in one place where the use tax law refers to sections of the R. O. T. Act.
William L. Cline, state supervisor of rules and regulations for the State Revenue Department, said he believes the courts will put little weight in the error if the use tax law is challenged in the courts. The "use" tax law is designed to correct an inequity against Illinois merchants who now must pay the R. O. T. and to gain extra revenue for the state.
It places a 2½ per cent tax, matching the R. O. T., on the privilege of "using" purchased property.
This tax catches purchases made outside the state. Merchants near state borders have protested that the R. O. T. drives buyers out-of-state to escape it.
But since taxes must be uniform, the "use" tax applies to all purchases whether made in Illinois or outside the state and returned here.

Tax on Buyer
Moreover, the R. O. T. is a tax on the merchant whereas the "use" tax is a direct tax on the buyer.
Thus, the retailer's occupational tax, the state's largest source of general revenue, has caused much confusion since it is passed on to the buyer by the merchant and is not really a sales tax.
"If the use tax is upheld there probably will be a lot of sentiment to repeal the retailer's tax," Ice said. "But the R. O. T. would still apply in several instances where the use tax would not, principally on sales to the federal government. On these sales, the state cannot tax the federal government as user, but can tax the seller."
The Revenue Department is sending out August forms to merchants that will indicate the merchant is to collect the use tax from the buyer.

But the form still requires payment under the retailer's tax law, with any extra use taxes collected reported as such.
Thus, merchants will be prevented from overcharging for "sales taxes."
"The use tax makes the merchant a tax collector and he must pay whatever he collects," Ice said. "Before he was just charging whatever the traffic would bear by adding his R. O. T."

It isn't necessary to trim off the inspection stamp on meat. The stamp is of a harmless vegetable compound.

Boy's Nation Group Gives Ike A Cultivator

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower met President Hopper today.

What's more, Mr. Eisenhower received a cultivator from his counterpart.

The other chief executive is 17-year-old Douglas Joseph Hopper, president of the American Legion's 1955 Boys' Nation.

Douglas presented the motorized cultivator — for Mr. Eisenhower's vegetable garden on his Gettysburg, Pa., farm — as he and 93 others in the Boys' Nation group called at the White House.

Douglas, from Glendale, Calif., also presented President Eisenhower with a Boys' Nation lapel pin.

After Douglas met his real-life counterpart, junior senators in the Boys' Nation adjourned to Capitol Hill to conduct their own Senate session and meet some real-life senators.

Tonight, after tours of the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum, President Hopper, his vice president, Kenneth Jennison, Carthage, Mo., and his secretary of defense, Kenneth Evans, Pompano Beach, Fla., will review a retreat parade of 3,000 2nd Army soldiers at Ft. Meade, Md.

The "presidential" party will be welcomed to the base — after a helicopter ride down with Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) — with a roaring 11-gun salute and a handshake by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker and 2nd Army commander, Lt. Gen. Floyd L. Parks.

Each of the three Boys' Nation officials will be made "honorary troopers" in the 3rd Cavalry Regiment's honorary society, "The Order of Brave Rifles." Only a dozen such honors have been extended in the regiment's 110-year history.

House to Act On Bill to Exempt Gas From U. S. Control

WASHINGTON — The House agreed today to take action on a bill to exempt the producers of natural gas from the direct controls of the federal government.

By a vote of 272-135, it agreed to a resolution of the House Rules committee formally putting the bill before the House.

In so doing, it ignored the pleas of some big city congressmen that the measure is too complicated to be considered in the closing days of the session.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, in one of his rare speeches to the House, pleaded that the House allow the measure to be debated and voted up or down on its merits.

He said that under the bill, "there will be more and more gas, more and more competition, with a probability of a reduction in price" to consumers.

Libi Staiger Receives Comment For Performance

Libi Staiger

Mrs. Jerry Eskow, formerly Libi Staiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Staiger of this city, received favorable comment recently in regard to her outstanding performance in the Broadway musical hit "Wonderful Town" presented the first of this month in Cape Cod, Mass.

An article from the Cape Cod Standard-Times said: "While all the major cast members turned in excellent performances, Libi Staiger as Ruth—the writer and ugly-duckling member of the sister duo—literally stopped the show with several of her numbers and was brilliant throughout. Her two solo selections, 'A Sure Way to Lose a Man,' and vignettes from Ruth's rejected short stories, were done with a fine sense of expression and timing, yet showed no signs of over acting."

Miss Staiger earned her Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Illinois. She has toured along the summer musical circuits as Bianca in "Kiss Me Kate," and when the national company of "Plain and Fancy" opens in Los Angeles, Miss Staiger is scheduled to play the role of Emma.

She and Mr. Eskow reside in Los Angeles where he is making films for television.

Atomic Cannon Sent to Far East

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is bolstering its Far Eastern defenses with atomic cannons, it was disclosed today.

The first of the big 280mm guns will arrive on the island of Okinawa in a few days.

Pentagon officials refused to comment immediately on the disclosure.

The 280mm gun can fire either conventional or atomic shells. There was no indication whether nuclear shells are accompanying the guns.

U. S. Army forces in Europe have about 36 of the atomic cannon and have been maneuvering with them for more than a year, but this is the first time any have been sent to the Far East.

Son Says He Doesn't Know if Eisenhower Will Seek Re-Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. John Eisenhower said today he doesn't know whether his father will seek a second term in the White House and doesn't think anyone does.

"Not even your father?" the President's son was asked.

"I frankly don't know," young Eisenhower replied. "I don't quiz him on that. He likes to talk golf and other things."

The exchange occurred at a get-acquainted news conference held by young Eisenhower and his family at his new post at the Army Engineers' training center at near-by Ft. Belvoir, Va.

President Hopes Peaceful Use of A-Energy Will Overcome Greed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today expressed hope that peaceful use of atomic energy will enable man to overcome his own avarice and greed and work for the good of all people.

He spoke at ceremonies marking the issuance of a new 3-cent "Atoms for Peace" commemorative stamp. The ceremonies were held on the south lawn of the White House before members of the Cabinet, congressional leaders of both parties and diplomats of the nations invited to participate in the International Conference on Peaceful Use of the Atom opening in Geneva Aug. 8.

Among the diplomats present were Sergei R. Strizanov, counselor of the Soviet Embassy. Russia has agreed to participate in the Geneva conference along with 83 other nations.

Ground Observers Asked to Report Balloons if Sighted

If you see a big balloon, call Rees Turner.

Mr. Turner, chief ground observer for Civilian Defense in Harrisburg, explained why.

He said that the government is conducting an experiment on spotting balloons and that all ground observers and civilians who see any balloons 50 feet or larger in diameter should report to him immediately by calling Harrisburg 144, giving the location and the time seen.

T-Sgt. R. M. Bohn of the Louisville filter center who soon will locate an office in Harrisburg, announced the alert for balloons today. He stated the request does not mean that ground observer posts be alerted or manned for the period, but rather observers as individuals going about their daily routine be on the alert for these balloons and if a sighting is made make a report.

Semi-Invalid Accused Of Intent to Murder In Shooting Neighbor

VILLA PARK, Ill. (AP)—Theodore Dixon, 65, a semi-invalid, was accused of assault with intent to murder today in the shooting of a neighbor.

Dixon's wife, Frances, 48, was shot accidentally in a dispute in the Dixon home Wednesday night. She and the neighbor, LeRoy Peterson, 48, were in critical condition in a hospital at Elmhurst.

Dixon told police Peterson had been drinking and was boisterous and abusive when he entered Dixon's house. Dixon said Peterson refused to leave.

He said he got a pistol "to scare him."

Authorities said the weapon went off accidentally and shot Mrs. Dixon in the back while she was telephoning police. Peterson was shot in the abdomen.

Defense Dep't Ordered to Crack Down On Agents Selling Insurance to GIs

Henry A. Du Fon, deputy assistant defense secretary, told a House armed services investigating subcommittee that regulations issued in 1953 to regulate life insurance sales on military posts are not perfect but have "proven satisfactory."

Horsemen Like Swaps Over Nashua In Match Race Aug. 31

NEW YORK (NEA)—The majority of horsemen at the Keeneland Summer Sales like Swaps over Nashua in the match race scheduled for Washington Park in Chicago, Aug. 31.

Before Rex Ellsworth and William Woodward, Jr., agreed to the return engagement, most people in racing doubted that the three-year-old leaders would meet again this year.

Now that the owners have agreed to the meeting, however, the chances are that it will take place, for Ben Lindheimer book sound horses for the longest stretch in the world—1,531 feet.

The wisest of horsemen at Lexington for the Summer Sales believe Swaps will repeat Nashua over the mile and a quarter of the neutral track as easily as the son of Khaled prevailed in the Kentucky Derby.

"Kentucky handbooks from the ground up feel a deep and sincere respect for Swaps," says Neville Dunn for The Thoroughbred Record, "and glowing admiration for the way Ellsworth and Mickey Tenney train him."

Eddie Arcaro says the result of the match will depend on which has improved the most—Nashua or Swaps.

"I know Nashua has improved," says the great race rider.

SWAPS HARDLY HAS gone back. The Hollywood Park strip is considerably faster than anything Nashua has appeared on since the Run for the Roses. But a world record on any surface is something in the way of evidence, especially when a three-year-old beats older horses such as Determine by a length and a quarter in 1:40.2 for a mile and a sixteenth, which is what Swaps did in The California.

That race was more impressive than Swaps' 2:00.3 for a mile and a quarter in The Westerner on the same oval, even though the big chestnut colt with the white star between the eyes was never out. They've done 1:59 and something at Hollywood Park and the sophomores Swaps ran away from are worse than those in the east.

Swaps and Nashua stick out so

White Sox Beat Yankees, 7-4, Boast They Are Ready To Take Over First Place

The cocky White Sox gave the Yankees less than 24 hours to get out of first place today and warned them beforehand that they have every intention of moving in themselves.

Marty Marion's optimistic Chicagoans can take over the American league lead by beating the Yankees today and to hear the White Sox talk after beating the league leaders, 7-4 Wednesday, they're all but in already.

"I can feel it in my bones," declared a jubilant Marion, "we're gonna lasso 'em and I think they know it. Tomorrow at this time those American league standings may be scrambled quite a bit."

White Sox outfielder Bob Nieman, mindful that only three games separate the Yankees, White Sox, Indians and Red Sox, put it this way: "Somebody is going to catch those Yankees soon and it might as well be us. If we stop here to rest, Boston and Cleveland will climb over us before we have a chance to turn around."

The White Sox had a minimum of difficulty cutting the Yankees' lead to a single game and a mere eight percentage points Wednesday. They routed an old nemesis, veteran Ed Lopat, with a three-run burst in the second inning, then hammered three more runs in the fourth. Ex-Yankee Harry Byrd gained his sixth victory although he needed relief in the eighth when the Yanks picked up their final three runs.

Like the White Sox, the red-hot Red Sox also put together a pair of three-run clusters to defeat the Indians, 6-2, and climb within three games of the top. Jim Piersall blasted a three-run homer in the fourth inning off Art Houtteman and he drove in his fourth run of the contest in another three-run burst during the fifth inning. Tom Brewer scattered six hits for his eighth triumph as the Red Sox made it 37 wins in their last 48 starts. Vic Wertz homered for Cleveland.

A's Beat Senators Twice Kansas City swept a two-night doubleheader from Washington, winning the 11-inning first game, 6-4, and the second game, 4-1.

Tom Umphlett's two-run homer in the ninth inning of the opener tied the score at 4-4, but an error by catcher Clint Courtney paved the way for the Athletics' two winning runs in the 11th. In the nightcap, an error by Senator shortstop Jose Valdivielso helped the Athletics break a 1-1 deadlock. Art Ditmar and Bill Harrington were credited with the victories.

Steve Gromek gained his 10th victory although he needed help from Joe Coleman as the Tigers won the opener of a doubleheader, 8-4, but Jim Dyck's seventh inning single dissolved a tie in the nightcap and drove in the run that gave the Orioles an 8-7 decision. Reno Bertoia hit a three-run homer for the Tigers in the second game.

The Braves, still harboring some slight hope of catching the Dodgers while battling for second place, beat the Phillies, 2-1, and moved to within 12 1/2 games of the National league lead as Cincinnati beat Brooklyn, 4-3, in 10 innings.

Milwaukee snapped Robin Roberts' six game winning streak when they put together three singles and a hit batsman for both their runs in the seventh inning. Lew Burdette chalked up his eighth victory although he didn't finish.

Rookie Milt Smith's 10th inning single beat the Dodgers after the Redlegs tied the game in the ninth at wiper out a Brooklyn lead built up by Duke Snider's 35th homer with one on. Don Hoak also homered for the losers.

Harvey Haddix pitched a three-hitter and the bases full to lead the Cardinals to a 6-1 victory over the Pirates. Elroy Face was the loser.

The Cubs, losers in 14 of their last 15 games, defeated the Giants twice, 4-2 and 9-8. Chicago jumped on Jim Hearn for six hits and four runs in the first three innings of the opener while in the nightcap, Dee Fondy's second homer of the game capped a five-run rally that won the game in the eighth.

Willie Mays slammed his 31st and 32nd homers in the second game and teammate Dusty Rhodes hit a grand-slam home run. Ernie Banks clouted his 29th for the Cubs.

Squirrel Season Opens August 1 SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Illinois hunters will kick off the 1955-56 hunt season on August 1 as squirrels become legal targets in the state's southern zone.

The season in the southern zone will continue through October 15. Squirrel season in the northern zone will be from Sept. 1 through Oct. 31 inclusive. Shooting hours in both zones are sunrise to sunset. Bag limit is five daily and ten in possession.

The newly revised game and fish code, now in effect, eliminates the state's central zone. Illinois now is divided into a southern and a northern zone. The southern zone remains the same as in the past except that Calhoun and Jersey counties have been added. The northern zone comprises all other counties.

Northern zone hunters are cautioned to hold their fire on ground hogs since these animals may legally be taken only in the state's southern zone.

Beauty Pageant One
Of Most Popular
Events at Fair

One of the most popular, and certainly the most attractive, events of the Saline County fair takes place Friday, Aug. 5, at 8:00 p. m., when the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce presents the seventh annual Saline County Beauty Pageant. With eighteen lovely girls from Harrisburg, Eldorado, and Carrier Mills competing for the title of "Miss Saline County of 1955," Bill Ferrell and Vern Joyner Jr., Jaycee chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of the beauty pageant committee, have worked long hours preparing for this year's pageant, and a spectacle of beauty is forthcoming which will rival any previous presentation of pulchritude. The largest crowd of any night at the fair is usually in attendance on this particular evening, and it is hoped that this year's pageant will prove no exception. Certainly those attending will not be disappointed.

The beauty pageant is the main source of operating funds for the Jaycees, as each girl is sponsored by a Saline County business firm who donates to the Jaycee operating fund.

Last year's Miss Saline County, Eugenia Gollmer, will be on hand Friday night to turn over her crown to the new winner. Previous winners: 1953, Peggy Black; 1952, Cynthia Hancock (Mrs. David Guard); 1951, Susie Baker; 1950, Jo Spears (Mrs. Tommy Gilchrist); and 1949, Joan Keith (Mrs. John VanderPlum).

Across Afghanistan's southwestern frontier with Iran, winds up to 110 miles an hour blow continuously from June to September.

Tariff Group Reports Fluor Spar Imports
Responsible for Low U. S. Production

On July 22, the Tariff Commission filed with the Senate Finance committee a supplementary report on its fluor spar investigation. This report was prepared in response to a letter from the chairman of the Senate Finance committee which asked the Tariff Commission to answer certain questions propounded by the Independent Domestic Fluor Spar Industry committee.

In the supplementary report the Tariff Commission found that workers' wages in the foreign industries were substantially lower than wages in the United States fluor spar industry with a consequent lower price for foreign fluor spar. It also found that the increased imports of foreign fluor spar and the low prices of it are responsible for the recent sharp drop in the domestic production of fluor spar.

With respect to the ability of the domestic fluor spar industry to meet the demands of the American consumers, the supplementary report found that higher prices for domestic fluor spar would promote greater domestic production and that at some level of prices an equivalence of domestic production with consumption would be attained.

In effect this supplementary report establishes that foreign imports and low prices derailed the domestic fluor spar industry, and that an adequate price level for domestic product would provide sufficient domestic product to meet the demand of the American consumers. The domestic fluor spar industry has all along fought for the establishment of these contentions.

Fluor spar is produced in nine states—Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Kentucky, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah; the Illinois-Kentucky area is far and away the most important producing area in America—it accounts for over 75 per cent of America's production of fluor spar.

There are two kinds of operations—firstly, the independent producers who are solely "sellers" of fluor spar, and secondly, the so-called "captive" operations, who produce fluor spar for their own account and use, such as Aluminum Company of America, General Chemical company, United States Steel company. The "captive" operators are essentially "buyers" and consumers of fluor spar.

It is the independent fluor spar producers, those engaged only in producing and selling fluor spar, who have been adversely affected by the great increase of foreign imports and the destruction of the price structure of the domestic market for fluor spar.

Couple Can Live On
$4.28 Food Each Per Week, Ag Dep't Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today that a young couple can get along fine on $4.28 worth of food per person per week.

This average food budget figure, which works out at about 20 cents a meal, was supplied by nutrition experts at the Utah experiment station.

The experts conducted a three-week diet research project with a young college couple performing the eating roles voluntarily in the interest of science. The couple finished the project in good health and with no loss of weight.

The $4.28 was parceled out this way:

Milk and cheese, 83 cents; eggs, 22 cents; potatoes, 4 cents; leafy green and yellow vegetables, 33 cents; citrus fruits and tomatoes, 16 cents; other fruits and vegetables, 55 cents; meat, fish, and poultry, 66 cents; dry beans, peas, and nuts, 22 cents; baked goods, flour, and cereals, 61 cents; fats and oils, 36 cents; sugar, sirup, preserves, 25 cents; condiments and spices, 5 cents.

During the three weeks the couple bought nine quarts of homogenized milk and enough dry milk solids to make 21 quarts of skim milk. The 15 per cent of the food dollar that went for meat and fish bought 2 1/2 pounds of ground beef, eight ounces of frankfurters, 12 ounces of yellowtail (fish), two pounds of frozen fish, three pounds of chuck roast, and 41 ounces of liver.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

XXVIII
In a flat, unemotional tone, Shayne told Gentry exactly what he had been told over the telephone by the murderer.

"Stop a minute, Will, and consider the situation. What would you and your entire police force have done at that moment if I'd taken the story to you?"

"We could have saved the woman's life and gotten the whole story from her by sitting tight," blustered Gentry. "He told you he had her hid out with arrangements for us to find her if you didn't come across with the money in a certain length of time. You caused her death by forcing the issue."

"He told us he had her hid out," Shayne reminded him. "But he didn't in fact. He had her tied up and locked in the trunk of the stolen car all the time." Michael Shayne's voice had an unaccustomed note of pleading in it. "Do you have Doc Martin's preliminary report on her?"

Will Gentry hesitated, then he conceded gruffly, "Doc didn't find a trace of salt water in her lungs. She must have been dead before the sedan went over. Suffocated in the trunk."

"How long before the car went over, Will?"

"At least half an hour," said Gentry grudgingly. "But that doesn't absolve you, Mike."

"I know, I know," said Shayne wearily. "If you'd had a jackass for a father, you'd be out in a field braying right now instead of sitting at this desk. So, I made a fast decision. There was one way we might trap the guy. By sending Lucy out with a decoy package under her arm . . . and don't blame Pete Fairwell for helping me make up that bomb. I gave him a good story why I wanted it, and he cooperated the way you've always had your men cooperate with me before."

"I blame you for bungling the deal," said Police Chief Gentry.

"Fair enough. There again, we have a whole batch of ifs. If he hadn't gunned the motor so fast before the bomb went off. If the guard fence hadn't been down at exactly that point. If an officious motorist hadn't picked up the unconscious man and carried him away before the police or I got there. . . . Those are ifs no one can anticipate. I took a gamble on catching him and lost. If I'd succeeded, you'd be pinning a medal on me instead of having me on the carpet."

"But you didn't succeed. Go on with your wild story about a bank robber named Hugh Allerdee."

Shayne went back to the time of the payroll theft and related the sequence of events leading up to the automobile tragedy while Allerdee was being taken to prison.

Then Chief Gentry broke in with: "Arlene Bristow is missing from her home. Supposed to have left for Miami a couple days ago under somewhat mysterious circumstances. With her brother dead here, I naturally wondered if it was she in the luggage compartment of the sedan."

"Arlene in Miami?" exclaimed Shayne. "Lucy must have learned that after we left her somehow. And that's what took her down to the morgue!"

"From what you said there, I gathered you thought Lucy was the woman whom the man recognized as he came out, and who took her away with him. Some man named Jenkins from 12th Street, who was afraid she was his daughter."

"Nuts! He's the murderer, of course. The man who was driving the sedan. He recognized Lucy at the morgue, caught her by surprise and hurried her out before she could protest. His Miami street address was the giveaway. Will, no one in Miami lives on plain 12th Street. It's either Northwest or Northeast, Southwest or Southeast."

That mistake proves him a stranger."

"Why would the murderer go down to try and identify the body?" argued Gentry. "He certainly knew who she was."

"Maybe he was afraid she had something incriminating. The important thing right now is that he has Lucy Hamilton. What are you going to do about that?"

Will Gentry's voice was deceptively mild. "Since you seem bent on running my police department, suppose you tell me what to do."

"Don't, Will. It's Lucy we're talking about. I'm convinced the man who has her prisoner has already killed two people tonight. Why not Lucy, too?"

"I can't think of any good reason." The cigar was drawing well and Gentry regarded the glowing end approvingly. "Unless he's holding her as sort of hostage to force you to give him the money he's after."

"I told you there was no money," Shayne half rose from his chair with clenched fists.

"You told me a lot of things the last 15 minutes. Give me a description of this so-called murderer, if he exists."

"He's heavy-set," said Michael Shayne between tight-clenched teeth, "and middle-aged. Wearing a gray suit and gray hat. Probably driving the car he stole from the Miami Beach resident who picked him up at the accident and got slugged for his trouble."

"That's not much to go on."

"Do you remember Jack Bristow told Lucy that a dead man had shot him?"

"I recall you saying that Lucy said Bristow had told her that."

"Call New Orleans," said Shayne angrily. "If you want a complete description of your man. Detective First Class Mark Switzer. The cop who was hand-cuffed to Hugh Allerdee when the police car went into the river there three days ago."

Salk Anti-Polio Vaccine Program Slowed Down as States Delay Shots

By United Press

The Salk anti-polio inoculation program has slowed down so that only about half the nation's communities have gone ahead with the second shots or plan to do so during the remaining summer weeks. A shortage of vaccine, the scattering of children on their summer holiday, the vacation absence of doctors, nurses, teachers and clerical help and a reluctance on the part of many parents to go ahead with the second shot in the polio season are the reasons.

The United Press polled its bureaus across the nation to find out what the countryside situation is. It discovered that, in general, the Western states are tending more to go ahead with completing second shots than other sections of the country.

In New England the situation is simply that the states have not received sufficient vaccine yet for second shots.

In California, on the other hand, 31 of the 58 counties already have completed the second shots. Los Angeles, however, has not yet decided whether it will finish the program.

Second Shots In Texas
Texas is going ahead with second shots. Fort Worth is the only big town there to hold out for fall inoculations. Houston had planned a mass vaccination in the city's ball park but now has decided to distribute the vaccine to 24 clinics instead.

Illinois has called off the entire program until "after Nov. 1 or later." Chicago administered the first shot, then decided not to give the second because of polio incidence in summer. The stocks of vaccine have been put in storage.

In the southeastern states, the majority of communities are going ahead with the program. Georgia reports, however, about 40 per cent absenteeism on second shots. In Louisiana dropped from 87,919 the first time to 52,500, due mostly to the difficulty of getting children together.

Michigan will go ahead as soon as it gets sufficient vaccine. The state Legislature voted 2 million dollars to give all children free shots. State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert Heustis said "we are not afraid of the vaccine and apparently Michigan parents are not afraid of it either."

New York has not received enough vaccine to go ahead. In New Jersey many communities have postponed the program until after the polio season.

In Indiana most towns are adopting a "wait and see" policy. Of 30 counties offered vaccine for the second round, 10 turned it down because of children being on vacation.

In Nebraska, Dr. Edwin Lyman, Omaha health director, is making no plans until more vaccine is received. "Residents are confused and disgusted with the way the vaccine situation has been handled," he said.

In Iowa only two counties have completed second shots. Des Moines health groups recommended postponement until fall.

North and South Dakota are going ahead. Most communities in Pennsylvania will give second shots as soon as they get vaccine.

But in Minnesota, Tennessee, Maryland, Delaware and most of Ohio the program will not be resumed until schools reopen. St. Louis is another of the big cities which will wait until autumn.

The Washington, D. C., Medical Advisory Committee recommended against giving shots in the polio season. Also officials in the capital felt they could roundup only about half the children.

Loses Attempt To Quash Two of 6-Count Indictment

SPRINGFIELD — The surviving Kampsville bank robber, Clifford Eugene Hubbard, 26, Collinsville, today lost his motion to quash two counts of a six-count indictment against him.

Hubbard was indicted on six counts for the attempted robbery of the bank and the slaying of cashier Henry Waldheuser, 63, which resulted from the attempt.

Hubbard's accomplice, Thomas Underwood, 26, Washington Park, also was killed.

Hubbard's attorneys, Joseph Londrigan and Robert Brunzman, argued two counts charging murder and intended murder should be quashed. They said these were wrongful charges.

Federal Judge Charles G. Bringle said he would consider motions to strike the language objected to, but would not quash the counts.

In the robbery attempt, Hubbard and Underwood broke into the Waldheuser home, were discovered by neighbors while trying to force Waldheuser to open the bank vault, fled in a car with Mr. and Mrs. Waldheuser and wrecked the car.

Waldheuser and Underwood died in the crash.

Recover Body from Mississippi River

McCLURE, Ill. — The body of Elmer Gibson, 32, was recovered from the Mississippi river Wednesday by U. S. Army Corps of Engineers men from Missouri.

Gibson, who carried a fishing license from Wolf Lake, Ill., and an unemployment card that gave his address as Arnold, Mo., drowned Tuesday while fishing.

The body was recovered about five miles south of the Cape Girardeau toll bridge.

The British Army used the first tanks on Sept. 15, 1916, during the offensive known as the Battle of the Somme.

Cadillac

The Great Practical Luxury!

This message is addressed particularly to those who have been thinking about purchasing a Cadillac—but who, for one reason or another, have not considered acting on the impulse this year.

For you, there is interesting and valuable information in the paragraphs which follow.

In the first place, there is no reason why anyone should ever put off ordering a Cadillac—once the decision for ownership has been made. For a Cadillac represents one of the soundest and most practical investments in the automotive world.

You can become the owner of a 1955 Cadillac for little more than you would pay for many so-called medium-price cars.

And this is only half the picture, insofar as cost is concerned. For when the time comes to sell your Cadillac, you will find that the car has held its value far beyond anything you could logically expect.

Authoritative price figures, based on year-after-year studies, reveal that a Cadillac may be expected to return its owner a larger share of his original investment than any other motor car built in the land.

And then consider Cadillac's economy of operation.

The car will run as far on a gallon of gasoline as most standard automobiles—and it is so soundly built and so soundly engineered that it is all but free from any save routine service requirements.

And here is the most interesting news of all: If you act quickly, the chances are that you can get early delivery of a 1955 Cadillac!

True, we have a backlog of Cadillac orders—but many of these are for future delivery or for special combinations not now available.

So—if you have thought of owning a Cadillac—come in now. Because of our low used car inventory, we are in an excellent position to make you a liberal allowance on your present car.

We have a Cadillac waiting to give you the most thrilling demonstration of your life. Why not make it today?
